

SCHOOL OF ARCHITECTURE,
PLANNING & PRESERVATION

Please join the Historic Preservation and Planning studios for a talk by Dr. Elliott Campbell, Director of the Center for Economic and Social Science, Chesapeake and Coastal Service, at the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, on The Importance of Conserving Suburban Greenspace Because of its Roles in Carbon Sequestration and Ecosystem Services

ELLIOTT CAMPBELL

Maryland Department of Natural Resources

Dr. Elliot Campbell is the Director for Economic and Social Science in the Maryland DNR Chesapeake and Coastal Service. He was a research faculty member at UMD College Park where he also received his doctorate.

This talk is open to all faculty, staff, and students of MAPP+D

September 21 at 4:00 pm via Zoom
Scan the QR code or follow the link provided :

<https://umd.zoom.us/j/5972540258>

